SHANGHAI SHOOTING CAUSE OF TENSION

Shanghai, Nov. 11. All last night the flight of Chinese from Chapei continued.

Following the appearance of Japanese marines, in steel helmets and with full field equipment, panic spread through the native city bordering upon the Hongkew area, which is the Japanese district in the International Settlement. It was here that the fierce fighting of 1932 developed, and Chapei has not forgotten the suddenness of that deluge.

The marines were called out following the shooting of a young Japanese bluejacket in a street row. They are patrolling the length of North Szechuen Road and the extra-settlement road beyond. Chinese troops are reported massing at Loyang.

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance. Received, Nov. 11, 9.30 a.m.)

Harrar, Nov. 10.

Eight seriously wounded Ethiopian soldiers arrived here to-day from the field hospitals in the vicinity of Gorrahei. They lay in a motor truck, suffering from serious bullet wounds, gas and gangrene. Their condition was pitiable.

They were able to talk, however. They told of four days' of terrific fighting before the Italians succeeded in capturing Gorrahei, after heavy bombardments and gas attacks. The Ethiopian losses, they admitted, were great, but they were unable to estimate the losses.

From other sources it is learned that the Ethiopian defence of Gorrahei was gallant. In face of the terrible bombardment they stood against hopeless odds and fought with a tenacity and endurance which was remarkable. When they could they retaliated against the Italians' continuous air and artillery offensive and flung themselves into battle.—United Press.

BRITISH LAND SEIZED BY IATLY'S TANKU JAPANESE FORCES GREATEST ENEMY

A picture that gives an idea of the difficulty nature of the country through which the Italians must now traverse is afforded by this photograph of a gully rear Makale, captured last week. This is the type of country traversed by the Napier expedition in 1868. The advance was organised in a most efficient manner: the tribes en route were admirably handled and supplies handsomely paid for, the vanguard (consisting of the 23rd Sikh Pioneers) was accompanied by experienced well-sinkers, and the guns were dismantled and carried over the rocky hill tracks on the backs of elephants. The four-hundred-mile journey took about ninely days (January to April, 1868), and this, considering the immense natural obstacles must be said to have been remarkably good going. Italy, rely on her mechanised forces, may take longer. rely on her mechanised forces, may take longer.

British Cruisers May Soon Become Aircraft Carriers

ROYAL NAVY TESTS THE GIROPLANE Service tests by the Royal Navy that may mean the conversion of practically every one of Britain's fighting ships into independent aircraft carriers have been completed in the Channel. The Furious, 21,450-ton British aircraft carrier and base of two squadrons of the Fleet Air Arm, carried out these tests with one of the new type wingless giroplanes recently.

Mr. R. A. C. Brie piloted the giroplane during the tests. The machine was on loan from the Army Co-operation School at Old Sarum, Salisbury Plain.

The results are now being considered by the Admiralty.

The British move follows similar experiments by the Italian Navy at the beginning of the year. Mr. Brie took a giroplane to the Adriatic Sea at the invitation of the Italian Admiraity.

There he landed and took repeatedly from an Italian cruiser land repeated land repea was the first time the feat had been accomplished.

B. & S. INVOLVED IN NORTHERN DISPUTE

Tientsin, Nov. 6. Japanese seizure of valuable waterfront land owned British subjects' Tangku, year-round seaport | of Tientsin at the mouth of the Haiho (river) has caused much concern and ill feeling in the British community

The Britons, R. A. Whitamore and C. R. Morling, possess duly registered title deeds to the property but the Japanese Army claims ownership by "right of conquest" in 1900 and to prove their claims have erected this year a monument on Morling's land to a Japanese officer who was alleged to have lost his life on that particular spot during the Boxer Rebellion in 1900.

For 35 years the Japanese made no claim to the land, but have now come forward with the claim and are already building on the property. Bull-dog Japanese soldiers are on duty on the land 24 hours a day and the British owners are not allowed to step foot on it.

The British Consulate General in Tientsin has taken up the matter with the Japanese Consulate General. Indignation was intensified by the manner in which Major G. A. Herbert, Administrative Consul, was forcibly ejected by Japanese soldiers when he went there to investigate. was shooed and pushed off as it he were a coolie.

Howard Payne, who represents the Morling interests here, went to Tangku. He did "trespass" on the land but he looked around carefully. Much work has been done on the property.

EDDYSTONE KILODYNE

FOR BATTERY OPERATION.

Only those who have handled the 'KILODYNE' can appreciate its wonderful capabilities. World-wide loud speaker reception of short wave broadcast is assured, together with an excellent allround performance on the higher wave-bands.

Prominent features of design are case of operation, complete freedom from body capacity effects even on the shortest waves, on dead spots on any waveband and smooth and definite reaction everywhere... Economy of current consumption, and the fact that all parts, are suitable for use under tropical conditions are points which will appeal to the overseas user... Four efficient valve stages give the set exceedingly long distance capabilities with freedom from interstage noise, outside static and electrical interference, which is most pronounced when the KILODYNE is compared with sets using a large number of valve stages, each of individually lower efficiency. Set including valves $95.

DIAMOND JUBILEE

ST. JOSEPH'S COLLEGE CELEBRATION

The celebration of the Dinmond Jubilee of St. Joseph's College began on Saturday morning when the Right Rev. Bishop H. Valtorta celebrated Pontifical Low Mass in the College

There was a full attendance of Brothers and students of both St. Joseph's and La Salle Colleges. In the course of his sermon, His Lordshin said:

A Diamond Jubileo is a great event n the history. of any institution. To-day shall we congratulate the Brothers? Most certainly. Most certainly we must not only congratulote them, but we must do something more. We must congratulate also the pupils who have received their education from them. The Brothers have made a great success in the Colony. Two big Colleges stand as monuments of their coming to Hongkong-they are monuments of their success.

Thousands have received their education from the Brothers. Whatever success they have attained in life, it is due to the Brothers. Many are in Heaven: we must offer congratulations to them because their salvation is due to the Christian education received at the hands of the Brothers. We must do something more; we must thank God and praise God for sending the Brothers to Hongkong. It is a lasting benefit to the Colony. What brought the Brothers to Hongkong? It was due to the prayers of the snintly Bishop Ralmondi.

Centenary

The Church will continue to the end of the world and any institut tion that is within the Church will last to the end of the world. daresny that the College will see Centenary and many more throughout the ages.

Let this then be our prayer to St John Bantist de la Salle: that while the pupils are called to Heaven one by one, the work of the Brothers may continue for centuries, and cen-

It was on November 8, 1875, that the Brothers took charge of an English School that had been establish ed by His Lordship the late Bishep Raimondi. The Portuguese of Macao had come to the Colony in large numbers about 1864 and it was on that account that His Lordship opened, the school for them. It was founed in 1864 under the patronage the Holy Redeemer and was situated in Staunton Street.

A band of three Brothers who arrived in 1875 were immediately given of the small school. But from so small a beginning success crowned every year's efforts, till today the Brothers have two very beautiful schools. St. Joseph's in Kennedy Road and La Salle in Kow-

The Brothers gave a commercial course right away with due emphasis on English, and the results are evident to-day. The loyalty, diligence and business-like habits of the students of those days were proverbial and served as a model for the present students and old boys.

Hongkong was making rapid progress under the British flag and there was then, as now, a demand for expansion. Were it not for the generosity of the Government, St. Joseph's would probably have remained a small school. In 1877 the Government, through His Excellency Sir John Pope Hennessey, gave a grant of $6,000 towards the erection of a new College in Robinson Road, and on November 3, 1881, the foundation stone was laid by Sir John himself. On September 15, 1882, Dr. E. Eitle, Director of Education, inaugurated the new school rooms and 190 boys answered the roll-call on the first day.

Special Chinese Class

Not long after the Brothers' arrival and at the request of the Bishop a special class for Chinese students was opened. In two years they numbered 90 and -have ever since gone on increasing. During the governorship of Sir John Hennessey the disabilities of 'Confessional' Schools were removed and from that time St., Joseph's received a Government Grant.

In 1898 the accommodation was increased and the higher classes entered for the Oxford examinations, which were replaced by the Hong-University examinations

The period of the greatest growth' was reserved for later days. Under the administration of the Brother Aimar the Brothers acquired extensive hulldings both in

The new premises were not sufficient for the needs of the school, but the Brothers managed to carry on, for some years. Half of the classes were continued in the new premises in Robinson Road while in Kenndey Road every available inch of space was made use of. Later the building near the Peak Trant station was added and when the wing housing the Chapel and large arsembly hall.

ARMISTICE

To-day the Empire, and, in fact, all the nations who were allied against the Central Powers in the Great War of 1014-18, commemorates the Armistice which came into force at 11 a.m. on the 11th day of the 11th month of the year 1918.

To-day is the 17th anniversary of that armistice and perhaps the most important thing to be remembered is that it is the armistice, the connation of hontilities, that is commemorated.

When one reads of new and deadlier methods of slaughtering noldiern and civilians, of fears of a now war in Europe, of the Italo-Ethiopian embroglio, of Far Eastern tension, a same line on what war really means can be obtained by remembering that it is the end of the fighting and killing and maining that is celebrated.

Other national anniversaries commemorate preat victories such an Waterloo, Trafalgar, that "glorious First of June," and so on, but the day chosen chiefly to be commemorated in the War of the Nations is the day on which men could for the first move freely above ground without fear of being slain; when women and children could look up into the sky without the fear of seeing hostile aircraft coming to bomb them; when a cablegram could come without causing every woman's heart to miss a beat.

LÀST SAIL

There is a tide in the affairs of sailing ships—n slow-moving ebb that has not yet run its course. Only the other day the four-masted bark Star of Zealand, a lofty relic of the world's once-great company of sail, cleared San Francisco on her final voyage—to a junk yard in Japan. Launched as the Astral at Bath, Maine, she with her tall sisters Acme and Atlas helped keep the lamps of . China buring in a strenuous decade of service as case-oil carriers under the house flag of Standard Oil. Eventually she joined the Alaska Salmon Packers' "Star" fleet whose fastvanishing forest of masts to-day looms out of Oakland Estuarly in forlorn disuse. Wrought of men's highest naval artistry, they brought a virile loveliness into the hard-cased calling of the sea. All was not beauty and romance in those departed days when the world's commerce moved by the whim sof wind and tide. Tales of mutiny and dismasting, of storm and peril are inscribed in the log of those three Down East barks. In the end, Acme went "missing," somewhere along the way to Cape Horn. Now, the Star of Zealand, ex-'Astral, goes to an alien shipbreaker's yard. World seem that eleven men take the field without a single unified plan of either attack or defence. Without any considered tactics. The keynote of Saturday's display what "hapbazard".

After which I will refrain from making the obvious comparison. it is that comparison which denies the gentleman's assertion that the Club gave South China a good run for their money. Regarded in terms of gonis that is the correct conclusion, but the essential distinction between the teams was reflected in the type of football played by them.

Which rather suggests that South China were a paragon football team, which is far from the case. I found short-comings not previously discornible. Half backs were exceedingly faulty in constructive work. Forwards unconsciously falling into Everton's error when Dixle Dean was their concentrating far too much on Lee Wal-tong.

But South China are still playing to well-laid plans, even if some are faulty in construction and less effective than others in practice.

To follow a similar policy would probably do more than anything else to convert the Club from what is at a present a mediocre team. into a powerful and dangerous combination.

There was a huge crowd both inside the ground and on the surrounding hills to watch this game. It was a personal triumph for Lee Wni-tong who, in spite of concentrated "policing" by Syd. Strange and Hill, succooded in netting the two goals which mattered.

AS GOOD AS EVER

Lee's ball control and artistry appeared to be as good as ever. Had he not been over-plied with passes, and thereby made the obvious target for the Club backs I am convinced Lee would have helped himself to more goals. But it is curious that a man with such wizardly feet should be so poor in headwork. I am reminded of Perry, who is world's tennis champlon yet has one of the most ordinary backhands imaginable.

As already intimated, Lee was over-fed. The natural result was a left back of exceptional promise, so accurate in their shooting. far less workmanlike forward line as His coolness and adroit positioning wingers were good, but not good a whole. ### GARTHWAITE, FINCHER SAVE THE DAY

SPLENDID BOWLING BY LEACH AND PAT MADAR

Whatever may have been its shortcomings in the past the weather was fine when the 35th match between Hongkong and Shanghai began at one minute past eleven on Saturday. Hongkong won the toss and opened with Fincher and T. E. Pearce to the bowling of Elliot at the Naval Yard end and Pat Madar.

Madar's third over Alec Pearce had n go and was caught in the deephe threw his wicket away. 25-2-1. Stokes relieved Elliot after the latter had bowled two overs. Donald the score was 38 A. H. Madar was given l.b.w. to him. It seemed uncommonly high from the pavilion.

Things looked pretty murky for the home side but Teddy Fincher who was batting beautifully, and Garthwalte stemmed the tide of disaster. Jenkins had a bowl at the Law courts end and seemed to be flighting them and pitching up for a catch at midoff, but Teddy managed to get couple of lovely enepet off drives to the

He himself was bowling from the other end and bowling uncommonly well, obviously turning them both ways, but he seemed a optimistic about the Lb.w. question At 12.10 p.m. the cricketers stopped and had a drink. So did the scorers and Mr. R. Abbit, who however had some difficulty in avoiding trying to drink out of the microphone and brondeast through a whisky and soda. Much refreshed Teddy, hit a lovely

Madar's flighted ball in one next over nearly had Garthwalte trapped as he took the hall half volley, Leach was hard to get away as he wits turning and keeping them short of a length for the most part, while he has the gift of that finger-spin which makes the ball sit up even on

AFTER TIFFIN

The game was resumed at 1.30 and a good enough over which gave two 150 for 3 wickets! singles. Stokes bowled from Yard end and put down two good one's on the off but the remaining. four were pretty poor.

Fincher collected a big four to with a pulled drive to the corner of square leg. A short ball in Elliot's mext over was beautifully cut past third man for fine. Stokes continued, He was definitely howling faster than before. Carthwaite snicked him for three on the leg side. But he definite?! ly did not appear to be a good bowler! except perhaps for an occasional good ball outside the off stump. Elliot's third over was excellent-a malden, and Fincher reeded all his skill to save his wicket. Stakes continued and bowled even worse, and Garthwnite hit him for two nice fours through the covers the first of which sent up the hundred amid applause.

FINCHER'S FIFTY

The start was disastrous as after caught at long leg off a full toss from scoring a four Pearce got Elliot's fifth Elliot. He seemed for the time to be delivery, which kicked, partly on his completely upset. Runs however had glove and partly on the wrist and was come nicely and the score was 110 for the voyage was uneventful, except that he ran into a number of bad storms, but Romance weathered them all splendidly.

"I tried to get into Yokohama harbour ahead of the Empress of Japan." he said, in telling his experiences. "We were both going up the Bay with a strong gale behind us. But the Japan made It first. She dipped her flag in salute, but I didn't see it and didn't know until the next day when I had lunch with Capt. Douglas."

Japanese authorities at prince," said Capt. Green. Romance remained at the Japanese upon "financial sanctions" to force port from June 29 to July 20. He had a bit of difficulty docking at Yokohama.

"It was blowing great gans," he related. "The engine was going full spead, but the rudder wasn't working. We nearly went aground. Capt. Douglas was watching from the bridge of the Japan."

Leaving Yokohama, Romance ran into "head winds and gale" overthrown, it is suggested. after gale all the way," as Capt. Green put it. But only once was it necessary to use the oil bags.

way, you might say," Capt. Green sald. "My son was the chief englacer. We used the engine only about three days in all."

"TUMBLED ABOUT"

of Yokohama. "One night she started to blow," Capt, Green said. "We started to tumble about and it continued to blow for days."

The captain found a novel way to obtain a bath during the crossing, although he never let the other members of the crew know anything about it. He washed in kerosene and then rubbed himself off with a rag. He said it was a splendid way and made him feel clean. He said he did not tell the others about it, because he considered the method a little danger-

"I couldn't very well have bath, as my tub was full of provision, and still is. You know, rather pride myself on being a bi of a steward, too,"

Romance had enough provisions on board when she arrived yesterday to start back again for Yoko-

BISCUITS RATIONED

Towards the end of the voyage it was necessary to ration out the biscuits. Each of the three men had two biscuits a day. The capthin figured it was better to do this than to run short. It worked out beautifully and there were twelve pounds of untouched biscults when she docked here. Porridge was also a bit low. Capt. Green admitted a plate of hot porridge, after a few hours at the wheel on a cold morning, was the finest thing in the world. "We heard only our own voices from the time we left Yokohama until we came near enough the U.S.S. Oklahoma Thursday evening to talk to her," Capt. Green said, In telling how pleased he was to reach port and see a number of his friends. He was gratified at the action of the Oklahoma in going out to him to see if there was anything he wanted done. He asked the captain to let Victoria and Bunkst his wish was complied with.
